

WHAT IS CLAIMED IS:

1. A wooden fan blade comprising:

a blade body made of a wooden plate having wooden fibers extended 5 substantially in parallel to a longitudinal axis of said blade body, said blade body having an elongated groove transversely disposed at one side thereof across the extending direction of the wooden fibers of said wooden plate; and a rib strip fitted into said elongated groove and having a plurality of raised portions respectively forced into engagement with said blade body in said elongated 10 groove.

2. The wooden fan blade as claimed in claim 1, wherein said rib strip has a U-shaped cross-section; the raised portions of said rib strip are respectively disposed at two opposite long sides of the rib strip and respectively forced into engagement with 15 two opposite longitudinal sidewalls of said elongated groove.

3. The wooden fan blade as claimed in claim 1, wherein said rib strip has a U-shaped cross-section; the raised portions of said rib strip are disposed at a bottom side of the rib strip and respectively forced into engagement with a bottom wall of said 20 elongated groove.

4. The wooden fan blade as claimed in claim 1, wherein said rib strip is made of metal.

25 5. The wooden fan blade as claimed in claim 1, wherein said blade body has a midrib longitudinally disposed at an opposite side thereof.